To the attention of TAMPOPRINT AG customers

July 2007

Technical Information respectively the proclamation of the spare parts supply „SPS control system PLS509“ for former standard pad printing machines

Dear customer,

the SPS control system PLS 509 (article no. 231725) is not being produced any more. Therefore we regret having to inform you that this spare part can not be supplied any more.

This control system was not used in our standard machines since more than 15 years. Of course we are ready to offer you a modification on Vipa control system in case you need a new control system for your existing machine. We advise that this modification can only be made "in house" at Tampoprint AG.

Thank you for your understanding for this proclamation.
